The Principal speaks.....

Environment changes; opportunities change, but not one's talents and skills. Talents and skills are inborn by one's birth; yet nurtured and reared by environment coupled with; motivation and encouragement. School is the right place to seek out these inborn talents and skills of children and bring them to the limelight with refinement. Children are inspired by the very visible character of the adults who ought to be noble and honest in their dealings with one another.

Students are the stars of a school and their talents and skills highlight the dignity of an institution. Our school has already set milestones marching towards the pinnacle of glory.

We are much privileged to present the newsletter which highlight some of the achievements of the students in different fields of education and a few events that took place. The newsletter symbolizes the mirror of the school reflecting the face of its value brought out to the world around.

We believe 'sharing is a joy', so we share with you what took place in our school. I am 'sure' that you agree with us that our school is a garden of anecdotes and talents.

Discipline leads one to success in life

Diligence and Industriousness are indispensable for a successful task
